Military Leaders Warn: We Can't Afford Luxury Of Another Pearl Harbor

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON, July 9—The U. S. government is frankly trying to build the best foreign intelligence system it can devise. Nobody doubts the need for it. The only question is whether we are going about it in the right way.

We managed to recover from the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, but our military leaders warn that we can't afford the luxury of another such surprise party. They say if a treacherous enemy were to attack again he probably would deliver an annihilating shower of atom bombs.

Probably nothing but foreknowledge of the danger could help us avert disaster.

MEAT CEILING PLAN MAY LOSE

Senate Likely To Turn Down Price Controls, Is Prediction

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 9—OPA's beleaguered supporters all but conceded today that the senate will vote to keep meat free from any price controls.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) drove toward a test sometime tonight on an amendment by Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.) to exempt meat and poultry products from the compromise bill to reestablish the price agency.

The Kentuckian called Wherry's amendment the key issue in a campaign to keep major foods off the lists of any new ceilings that may be fixed.

Barkley declined to predict the outcome of this scheduled first vote. But Sen. Murdock (D-Utah) told a reporter significantly:

"It looks like the other side has the votes to control meat."

Murdock said he expects several Democrats from the western cattle country to join with a large majority of the Republicans in support of the Wherry amendment.

As early senate debate revolved chiefly around meat controls, Chicago reported another day of sharply higher marketings Monday with cattle and hog prices generally upward.

To a contention by Jack Kravis, president of the National Meat Industry council, that large packers were hiking last OPA beef ceilings by 12 cents a pound, spokesmen for Swift and Armour companies said they had simply added the amount of government subsidies, which had averaged about five cents a pound.

These subsidies, designed to keep retail prices down, expired with OPA.

Provisions

Wherry's amendment provides: "No maximum price and no regulation or order under this act or the stabilization act of 1942, as amended, shall be applicable with respect to livestock, poultry, or eggs, or food or feed products processed or manufactured in whole or in substantial part from livestock, poultry or eggs."

Wherry said he feels confident the senate will approve the proposal because it is tired of black markets and thinks there ought to be a test in which some commodity is left free to seek its competitive price level on the market.

But Barkley criticized what he called this "Guinea pig" idea. Leaving the controls off one commodity might be all right, he said. But he added that he feared the experiment would widen the non-control growing as it fed on such a major item of the American diet.

Behind that was the obvious fear of OPA supporters that President Truman might veto a non-meat ceiling bill.

As Barkley saw it, a victory for Turn to MEAT CEILING, Page 8

War Secretary Called After Witness Intimidates Rep. May

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 9—Senators invited Secretary of War Patterson to explain today why the Army-Navy "E" award was given one of a chain of munitions plants over objections of the Chicago ordinance office.

The summoning of the cabinet officer was the newest step in the Senate War Profits Investigating committee's inquiry into an asserted "paper empire" of 16 war plants which got more than $78,000,000 in high-profit war contracts.

The hearing veered back to the disputed "E" award after a day in which:

1. The committee heard testimony that Rep. May (D-Ky.) promoted a timber deal in 1943 after saying he was "in touch with the proper people" to get war contracts and that he and an associate would "both draw big salaries."

2. May gives denial

3. The possibility arose that a constitutional provision might bar the senate committee from seeking to question May, whose earlier unofficial appearance before the group was described by Chairman Mead (D-NY) as "wholly inadequate."

George Meader, committee counsel, said Patterson would be asked not only about the "E" award to the Erie Basin Metal Products Co., but about reports of pressure from Washington to lift the manpower ceilings of that and other plants dominated by Murray and Henry Garsson, brothers.

Former Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell, Jr., who was chief of army ordinance during the war, told the committee last week that May put "special pressure" on him on behalf of the Garssons while Campbell was "up to the neck" in important war work.

May, gaining the floor under "personal privilege" rules, told the house he felt there is "something sinister in these attacks on me" and assured his colleagues he had never used one penny of "anybody's money except my own."

May told his colleagues that "a complete audit of all my dealings with the Cumberland Lumber Company is being made and will be submitted to the press."

SUSPECT IS FREED IN CANTON SLAYING

CANTON, July 9—Charles Pustay, 57-year-old Canton widower, today was free of a first degree murder charge in the fatal beating of Ruth Woodie, 27, a waitress, last Dec. 8.

After deliberating five hours, a jury of seven women and five men last night acquitted Pustay, operator of a rooming house where the slain waitress lived. He was freed immediately by Common Pleas Judge A. C. Barthelme.

The jury's verdict prompted applause among more than 100 spectators in the courtroom despite the judge's warning he would not tolerate any demonstrations.

Pustay, haggard after the two-week trial, wept openly when he heard the verdict, reached after four ballots.

The state charged that Miss Woodie had been waylaid on her way to work early on the morning of Dec. 8 and had been beaten to death, possibly with a brick. Her body was found in the basement of a vacant house.

During the trial, an FBI agent testified that a jacket worn by Miss Woodie at the time of her slaying bore cow hairs and wool fiber from a sweater belonging to Pustay.

CLEVELANDER WILL HEAD FAIR OAKS SANITARIUM

COLUMBUS, July 9—Dr. J. M. Whitworth, 47, clinical director of the Cleveland state hospital for the last two years, today was named superintendent and medical director of Fair Oaks Villa, a sanitarium at Cuyahoga Falls which the state is acquiring for a receiving hospital for mental patients.

Welfare Director Frazier Reams, who made the appointment, said Dr. Whitworth would receive $5,000 a year without maintenance. Whitworth has been in state hospital service since 1922.

Thomas O'Connell, chief investigator for the Senate War Profits Investigating Committee in the "paper empire" case, points a finger accusingly as he tells the committee that he was offered a $10,000 job by persons who wanted the Senate inquiry stopped. He said the offer was made on Dec. 5, 1945, in Chicago.

"I did not endorse that check, 'A. J. May, President,'" Rep. Andrew J. May (D) of Kentucky tells the House in charging "a conspiracy of falsehood and malice" linking him with Illinois munitions firms under investigation by Senate War Profits Investigating Committee.

STASSEN MEN WIN ELECTION

Sen. Shipstead Admits Defeat In Minnesota Vote Monday

(By Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, July 9—Senator Henrik Shipstead early today admitted his defeat for renomination in Monday's Minnesota primary election, and said that he was sending his congratulations to Gov. Edward J. Thye.

"Gov. Thye has apparently won the nomination," the senator told the Associated Press.

"His election seems assured. I send him my congratulations. It's a great privilege to serve the splendid people of Minnesota in the senate. I am deeply grateful to the people of our great state to have had that privilege for 24 years, and I am sending my congratulations to Gov. Thye."

Candidates backed by Harold E. Stassen and pledged to his ideas of international cooperation took substantial leads early today in contests for senator and governor in Monday's Minnesota primary election.

In the senatorial contest, Gov. Edward J. Thye, Stassen's hand-picked successor in the Minnesota statehouse, piled up a lead of nearly 19,000 votes over Sen. Henrik Shipstead, a veteran of 24 years in congress, who voted against American participation in the United Nations.

On the basis of returns from 571 of the state's 3,706 precincts, Thye had 50,040 votes to 31,054 for Shipstead. Stassen's supporters had admitted that his 1948 presidential aspirations might receive an almost fatal setback by a Shipstead victory.

Stassen's candidate for governor, former State Supreme Court Justice Luther Youngdahl, rolled up 26,334 votes in 287 precincts compared with 13,427 votes for his chief opponent, Hjalmar Petersen, a former Farmer-Labor governor for a brief period in 1936.

While bathing in the Shenango river three miles north of here last night, Edward Nash, 34-year-old ex-soldier, of R. D. 2, New Castle, stepped into a hole and went under. His wife, a nurse, helped rescue workers in unsuccessful efforts to revive him.

Two-year-old Daniel J. Byler, of R. D. Enon Valley, drowned in a watering trough on the farm of his father, John E. Byler.

While playing about the farm of a neighbor, Sandra Bishop and Stephen Shinko, both 6, stepped into the revolving blades of a saw moving machine. Because of severe cuts it was necessary to amputate one leg of each child.

Wanted In E. Liverpool. Man Escapes From Jail

KITTANNING, Pa., July 9—James Ammon, 31, of R. D. 1, Apollo, escaped from Armstrong county jail Saturday night, Sheriff Preston Johnston reported.

Johnston said Ammon, who was being held pending extradition to Ohio, fled when he was let out of jail to hang up a shirt he had washed.

State Policeman Dennis L. Greenwald said Ammon was arrested June 24 near Apollo on a fugitive's warrant sworn by authorities in East Liverpool, O., where Ammon is wanted for questioning in connection with the passing of checks.

WARREN, July 9—Service-Safety Director Floyd Pardee today recommended addition of five new men to the police force, purchase of new equipment, including four cruisers and erection of another story over the cell block at city jail.

The director, in a report to Mayor Henry C. Wagner, urged complete reorganization of the police department to add to its efficiency.

Rev. William Case Dies In Alliance At Age 75

ALLIANCE, July 9—Rev. William Chancy Case, 75, husband of Alberte, retired Presbyterian minister, who served as stated clerk of the Mahoning Presbytery from 1936 until 1944 when he suffered a stroke, died Monday.

Graduate of Wooster college and native of Nebraska, Mr. Case served pastorates in Indiana and Wellsville, Vienna and Salineville in Ohio before retiring here in 1923.

A son, the Rev. Asher Case, and a daughter, Mrs. H. R. Henderson of Alliance, also survive.

Funeral service will be held at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday.

Butter Sets Pattern For New Hikes In Milk, Meat

Ohio producers freely predicted today that meat and milk prices would follow the trend already set by butter in a number of state markets—upward.

Spokesmen predicted the withdrawal of federal subsidies on all three of these items would force retailers to pass on the farmer's price hike to the housewife.

Here was the picture, as presented by dairymen and packers:

BUTTER—This commodity, the Ohio Milk Producers federation said, had a government subsidy of 13 cents a pound during June, last month of OPA. Producers in Columbus and Cincinnati now are selling butter at 13 cents a pound more than last month, or 80 cents.

Retailers in Salem predict similar increases as soon as present inventories are depleted. One store was selling butter here today at $1 a pound.

MEAT—Subsidized in varying amounts, according to the type of cut and the kind of meat. Major Columbus packers, while disagreeing in estimates from five to 15 cents a pound, agreed raises would be made.

But despite swelling stockyard receipts, there still wasn't much meat available. What meat there was, however, was going up.

Salem livestock slaughterers were notified today by A. H. Manheimer of Cleveland, district OPA slaughter control officer, that slaughter quotas still are in effect under provisions of the second war powers act, thus limiting the flow of meat to the consumer.

One chain of retailers in Columbus announced seven cents a pound advances on chuck roasts and sirloin steaks, six cent increases on bacon per pound. The explanation, written in a newspaper advertisement, was the same: Subsidy withdrawals.

New Milk Boost Looms

MILK—During the last days of OPA increases were granted on the basis of increased feed costs, dairymen say. Now they want boosts because of subsidy withdrawals—about 1½ cents a quart.

The Ohio Milk Producers federation held a meeting at Columbus last night on the subject, and spokesmen—representing the state's 22,000 organized milk producers—indicated they would ask increases at federal hearings within a few days.

Their case is different from that of other types of producers in that they must submit evidence before the Federal Milk Marketing Commission before adding to the price.

Lawrence Erwin of Beloit was fined $50 and costs today by Mayor R. R. Johnson on a charge of hit-skip operation following a traffic mishap on E. Pershing st., near the Penn ave. intersection, at 12:20 a. m. today.

Police arrested Erwin after his car had struck a parked vehicle, damaging the left front fender, the left tire and a tie rod. The parked car, whose owner was not known, was on E. Pershing st., south of Penn ave.

Police said Erwin failed to stop after the crash and sped on, going south on S. Lundy ave., before he was stopped and placed under arrest.

Rules of Procedure Settled: Await Russian Declaration

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, July 9—The foreign ministers council, turning to the German question after finally breaking a four-day deadlock on the calling of a 21-nation peace conference, anxiously awaited today a promised "important declaration" of Russia's policy toward the Reich.

The log-jam ended last night with the adoption of a French compromise providing that only a few suggested rules of procedure be sent out with invitations to the peace conference, scheduled to open July 29 in Luxembourg palace.

This was considered a victory for the United States and Britain, which had opposed Russian demands that the invitations be accompanied by mandatory rules of procedure.

Under the compromise, France was authorized to send out invitations today to the nations which will draft peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

Rules Being Drafted

The suggested rules of procedure will be drafted this morning by the deputy ministers and are slated to be ratified by the ministers this afternoon. The ministers then are scheduled to ratify their final agreements on Italian reparations, thus clearing the slate for discussion of the German question.

Speculation on the nature of the important declaration on Russia's policy toward Germany ran from one extreme to another. Some sources said Russia planned to offer to join Britain, France and the United States in establishing a central administrative organization within a federalized Germany.

Others said the Russians would denounce Britain and the United States for conducting "secret negotiations behind the Soviet union's back."

"Secret Talks" On Coal

Tass, the official Russian news agency, has accused the two western allies of engaging in private conversations on Germany to which Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "for some reason" was not invited.

American delegation sources denied that tri-power "secret talks" on Germany were going on in Paris "to the exclusion of Russia."

French, British and American coal technicians are negotiating to increase Germany's coal output, they said, but U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery has kept the Russian ambassador, Alexandre Bogomolov, advised on the progress of these talks.

Diplomats speculating on the reason for the change in the Russian demand for prearranged, mandatory rules of procedure for the peace conference said Molotov might have received new instructions from Moscow or that the other foreign ministers might have brought such pressure to bear on him to agree to presentation of the rules as only recommendations that he was forced to yield.

Urge Zone Breakdown

Both Britain and the United States are known to favor a breakdown in the present rigid zonal boundaries of Germany into uneconomic, airight compartments.

France has prepared an elaborate list of proposals for Germany's future, including incorporation of the Saar into the French economic system, the political detachment of the Rhineland from Germany and the international control of the Ruhr industrial basin.

France, Britain and the United States all seek to establish German states which eventually could be unified into a federal structure.

In the senatorial contest, Gov. Edward J. Thye, Stassen's hand-picked successor in the Minnesota statehouse, piled up a lead of nearly 19,000 votes over Sen. Henrik Shipstead, a veteran of 24 years in congress, who voted against American participation in the United Nations.

On the basis of returns from 571 of the state's 3,706 precincts, Thye had 50,040 votes to 31,054 for Shipstead. Stassen's supporters had admitted that his 1948 presidential aspirations might receive an almost fatal setback by a Shipstead victory.

Stassen's candidate for governor, former State Supreme Court Justice Luther Youngdahl, rolled up 26,334 votes in 287 precincts compared with 13,427 votes for his chief opponent, Hjalmar Petersen, a former Farmer-Labor governor for a brief period in 1936.

Woman Gets Term
For Truck Theft

LISBON, July 9.—Janet Frye, 26, of Columbiana, was sentenced to serve a term of not less than one nor more than 20 years in the women's reformatory at Marysville at the conclusion of a hearing before Judge Joel H. Sharp in common pleas court here Monday afternoon.

Miss Frye, who appeared in court with her counsel, entered a plea of guilty to "operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent," also entering a plea for probation which was denied by Judge Sharp.

Miss Frye was indicted on a charge of auto theft in connection with the theft of a pick-up truck owned by Kenneth Metz of Leontonia, last May 14. The truck subsequently upset, killing one of three occupants.

Butter Sets Pattern For New Hikes In Milk, Meat

Ohio producers freely predicted today that meat and milk prices would follow the trend already set by butter in a number of state markets—upward.

Spokesmen predicted the withdrawal of federal subsidies on all three of these items would force retailers to pass on the farmer's price hike to the housewife.

Here was the picture, as presented by dairymen and packers:

BUTTER—This commodity, the Ohio Milk Producers' federation said, had a government subsidy of 13 cents a pound during June, last month of OPA. Producers in Columbus and Cincinnati now are selling butter at 13 cents a pound more than last month, or 80 cents.

Retailers in Salem predict similar increases as soon as present inventories are depleted. One store was selling butter here today at $1 a pound.

Meat Still Scarce
MEAT — Subsidized in varying amounts, according to the type of cut and the kind of meat. Major Columbus packers, while disagreeing in estimates from five to 15 cents a pound, agreed raises would be made.

But despite swelling stockyard receipts, there still wasn't much meat available. What meat there was, however, was going up.

Salem livestock slaughterers were notified today by A. H. Macheimer of Cleveland, district OPA slaughter control officer, that slaughter quotas still are in effect under provisions of the second war powers act, thus limiting the flow of meat to the consumer.

One chain of retailers in Columbus announced seven cents a pound advances on chuck roasts and sirloin steaks, six cent increases on bacon per pound. The explanation, written in a newspaper advertisement, was the same: Subsidy withdrawals.

Declaring that a new enterprise normally "proceeds slowly," Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt asserted that "the need for homes for veterans is so urgent that the production of new materials and new types of construction cannot wait."

MOTORIST FINED
IN HIT-SKIP CASE

Lawrence Erwin of Beloit was fined $50 and costs today by Mayor R. E. Johnson on a charge of hit-skip operation following a traffic mishap on E. Pershing st., near the Penn ave. intersection, at 12:30 a. m. today.

Police arrested Erwin after his car had struck a parked vehicle, damaging the left front fender, the left tire and a tie rod. The parked car, whose owner was not known, was on E. Pershing st., south of Penn ave.

Police said Erwin failed to stop after the crash and sped on, going south on S. Lundy ave., before he was stopped and placed under arrest.

Pre-Fab Dwelling
Market Guaranteed
By Housing Agency

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—The National Housing agency today unveiled its guaranteed market plan—a program designed to step up veterans housing construction through increased production of new type building materials and prefabricated homes.

Authorized by congress in the Veterans Emergency Housing act, the plan provides for the government to underwrite producers against loss in marketing their products.

It is the second part of a program to build 2,700,000 new dwellings by 1948. The first step allows premium payments on materials production under a $400,000,000 subsidies fund.

Declaring that a new enterprise normally "proceeds slowly," Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt asserted that "the need for homes for veterans is so urgent that the production of new materials and new types of construction cannot wait."

How Plan Works

The guaranteed market plan will allow a new producer to "swing into full production at the outset, assured of a market for all he produces," Wyatt said.

The underwriting, he added, will be accomplished through a contract between the producer and the Reconstruction Finance Corp. It works this way:

The government will agree to purchase at a price fixed in the contract any units of new materials or pre-fabricated houses which the producer is unable to sell through his own distribution channels.

However, Wyatt pointed out, the act prevents the government from underwriting more than 200,000 housing units at any one time. It also provides that the government may not pay more than 90 per cent of a "producers delivery price."

Rules of Procedure Settled:
Await Russian Declaration

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, July 9.—The foreign ministers council, turning to the German question after finally breaking a four-day deadlock on the calling of a 21-nation peace conference, anxiously awaited today a promised "important declaration" of Russia's policy toward the Reich.

The log-jam ended last night with the adoption of a French compromise providing that only a few suggested rules of procedure be sent out with invitations to the peace conference, scheduled to open July 29 in Luxembourg palace.

This was considered a victory for the United States and Britain, which had opposed Russian demands that the invitations be accompanied by mandatory rules of procedure.

Under the compromise, France was authorized to send out invitations today to the nations which will draft peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

Rules Being Drafted

The suggested rules of procedure will be drafted this morning by the deputy ministers and are slated to be ratified by the ministers this afternoon. The ministers then are scheduled to ratify their final agreements on Italian reparations, thus clearing the slate for discussion of the German question.

Speculation on the nature of the "important declaration" on Russia's policy toward Germany ran from one extreme to another. Some sources said Russia planned to offer to join Britain, France and the United States in establishing a central administrative organization within a federalized Germany.

Others said the Russians would denounce Britain and the United States for conducting "secret talks" in negotiations behind the Soviet union's back.

"Secret Talks" On Coal

Tax, the official Russian news agency, has accused the two western allies of engaging in "secret conversations on Germany" to which Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "for some reason" was not invited.

American delegation sources denied that tri-power "secret talks" on Germany were going on in Paris "to the exclusion of Russia."

French, British and American coal technicians are negotiating to increase Germany's coal output, they said, but U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery has kept the Russian ambassador, Alexandre Bogomolov, advised on the progress of these talks.

Diplomats speculating on the reason for the change in the Russian demand for prearranged, mandatory rules of procedure for the peace conference said Molotov might have received new instructions from Moscow or that the other foreign ministers might have brought such pressure to bear on him to agree to presentation of the rules as only recommendations that he was urged to yield.

Urge Zone Breakdown

Both Britain and the United States are known to favor a breakdown in the present rigid zonal boundaries of Germany and an end to the division of Germany into un-economic, airtight compartments.

France has prepared an elaborate list of proposals for Germany's future, including the incorporation of the Saar into the French economic system, the political detachment of the Rhineland from Germany and the international control of the Ruhr industrial basin.

France, Britain and the United States all seek to establish German states which eventually could be unified into a federal structure.

The possibility of drawn-out congressional debate on a stop-gap price control bill is limited by the imminent adjournment of Congress. Whatever is going to be done will be done quickly.

It's one of those situations calling for hurry for another reason. The longer the public observes that life comes and goes and ebbs and flows without OPA, the harder it will be to get the price control slipper back on when the show is over.

Handicapped by everything imaginable, the few days of experience with a free economy the country has had since last Monday have shown promise of getting the country out of the doldrums. The government still is astride the national economy, like the old man of the sea, but pressure on the public windpipe has eased.

When proper allowance is made for subsidies formerly paid out of taxes but now being paid in plain sight and for the fluctuations that always follow a sudden alteration in the circumstances of doing business, it may appear that the only reason for reinstating OPA at all once it had been discarded was to assert political authority. But the gentlemen had better hurry. The longer the OPA shoe stays off the public foot, the more comfortable the foot is.

They do themselves a further disservice by pretending not to be aware of the momentous change in the nature of Britain's economy brought about by state socialism.

C. Hartley Grattan, in the current Harpers, describes the paradox of this socialism as an attempt to make Britain more like capitalist America. That also is the paradox of Russia's version of communism; that it aims to give underprivileged Russians some of the privileges of American capitalism.

Mr. Grattan, having examined British socialism in practice, doubts that Britain is heading in the right direction to reach the more abundant life. There is no black magic in state socialism, as Americans should have discovered by this time. In an economy as complex as that of the British empire's, three and three quarters billion dollars will have no more impact on prosperity than the larger sum spent in this country on WPA. The issue is not whether American taxpayers are going to lend Britain money, but how long and in what amounts the "lending" shall continue.

It Can Be Too Quiet

Conscience may twinge at reports of quiet Independence days. The safe and sane Fourth that took the place of the old-fashioned rough-house holiday again this year is an unqualified blessing.

With another safe and sane one decently embalmied in the record and the only sound effects of its passing furnished by automobile drivers banging into one another, it is suggested there might be such a thing as staying too quiet on the Fourth of July.

Quietness is an ideal setting for meditation, assuming someone wants to be meditative, but it is no atmosphere for jubilation. It is subject to the same shortcoming that quietness was subject to during the war, when millions of young men were permitted to shuffle off to the greatest adventure of their life without even a brass band playing. That was ideal for grim, morose meditation, but as many an old-timer grunted on the sidelines, "It was a chowder-headed way to run a war."

Perhaps the mood of the American people this long after independence is ceasing to be exuberant. Perhaps we are fed up with hollering with joy and punctuating our remarks with cannon crackers. The crackers were too dangerous, they said, though we know now they were only a fraction as lethal as the automobiles in which we scour the countryside trying to signalize the occasion with motion.

Perhaps Americans are minded to put behind them all childish things for good and take a completely-adult attitude toward themselves and their independence, regarding both as something a little less than perfect. If that has happened, our independence is in even more danger than alarmists have been saying it is. When anything as perishable as human freedom is taken for granted and no longer is marveled over noisily by those who possess it, damage is far advanced.

Threat of Trouble

In his plea to President Truman to veto the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Bill, AFL President William Green wrote: "If the Hobbs Bill becomes law widespread discontent and unrest will prevail within the ranks of labor. It will serve to increase labor strife..."

This sounds decidedly like a threat. It is certainly possible for labor's leadership to whip up discontent and unrest, and to foment increasing labor strife. But we seriously doubt that the rank and file of labor, if left alone, would rise up in revolt against a law which only prohibits them from committing robbery and extortion.

membership. It also seems to be another indication that, to some labor leaders, any legislation tending to limit and correct some of labor's present disproportionate powers will be a signal for cries of "union-busting" and "anti-labor," and more threats of strife and unrest.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, July 10

WHILE there may be an undercurrent of serious difficulties, misunderstanding and stresses, undermining the fondest hopes and wishes, with subtlety and intrigues to be met with direct and straight-forward action, yet there is nothing that may not be corrected, deftly manipulated and vanquished by open discussion, honorable agreements, well-organized plans and purposes, in which the higher feelings and emotions are permitted to have free expression.

Shun erratic, peculiar or sinister impulses, in favor of fine ideals and generous inclinations.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which there may be a challenge to the higher feelings, impulses and emotions, in which finer ideals, inspirations or intuitions have weight over base, ignoble, subtle and sinister operations. An undercurrent of duplicity must be calmly analyzed, and freely discussed, followed by soundly organized plans for future balanced and worthy purpose, established on an open and above board basis. Understanding and happiness may be restored by getting down to fundamentals.

A child born on this day may have a duality of disposition and emotions, with the aspirational, lofty and worthy warring against erratic, peculiar, or subtle urges.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Penicillin Vapor Aids Bronchial Disorders

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SOMETIMES, science gets a good idea and then has to wait a hundred years for it to pay off.

That's the way it has been in the treatment of bronchial and lung infections, with vapor. What could be more natural when disease exists in the organs of breathing than to think of curing it by having the patient breathe in a vapor containing some healing substance?

It's a splendid idea, this one of bringing a healer in such direct contact with diseased parts with so little trouble. It's a natural and medical men of more than a century ago thought it up.

Ever since, other medical men have been playing around with the same thought without getting much further forward.

Heavy Droplets

The droplets of medicine were so heavy that they fell almost at once on the lining membranes of structures in the upper part of the breathing apparatus, windpipe and voice-box.

Recently, however, methods have been found of giving a vapor so fine that it can reach the deepest portions of the lungs and so half of the problem was solved, but physicians still lacked a really powerful drug which could be used in this way.

Then along came penicillin and at long last the doctors had what looked like a winning combination. Preliminary reports indicate that it is going to prove as good in practice as it looked in theory.

According to Dr. Allan Hurst of Denver, there is still no definite agreement as to what the best dose of penicillin is for such treatment. In some instances as little as 1,000 units a day have been given with success while as much as 50,000 units every three or four hours has also been used with similarly good results.

Treating Lung Disorders

He tried out this method of treatment in a group of patients with a number of different lung disorders. The penicillin was administered by passing oxygen through a solution containing 50,000 units of penicillin in one cubic centimeter of salt solution.

Among the cases treated were patients with a disorder known as bronchiectasis. This is a condition in which the bronchi or small tubes in the lungs are enlarged or dilated. Such patients also have an excessive amount of sputum, cough up a great deal and have some difficulty in breathing.

Patients treated with the penicillin in the form of a vapor, breathed directly into the lungs, were benefited to a great extent, in most instances. The amount of sputum was reduced, fever when present was overcome and coughing and tightness in the chest also were benefited.

Patients with asthma, a condition in which there are wheezing, tightness in the chest and coughing were also helped in many instances by this treatment. It was noted that in some instances some slight aggravation of the symptoms occurred when the treatment was first started but this cleared up quickly.

It would appear that this type of treatment is worth trying in many cases.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

It Can Be Too Quiet

Conscience may tinge at reports of quiet Independence days. The safe and sane Fourth that took the place of the old-fashioned rough-house holiday again this year is not an unqualified blessing.

With another safe and sane one decently embalmed in the record and the only sound effects of its passing furnished by automobile drivers banging into one another, it is suggested there might be such a thing as staying too quiet on the Fourth of July.

Quietness is an ideal setting for meditation, assuming someone wants to be meditative, but it is no atmosphere for jubilation. It is subject to the same shortcoming that quietness was subject to during the war, when millions of young men were permitted to shuffle off to the greatest adventure of their life without even a brass band playing. That was ideal for grim, morose meditation, but as many an old-timer grumbled on the sidelines, "It was a chowder-headed way to run a war."

Perhaps the mood of the American people this long after independence is ceasing to be exuberant. Perhaps we are fed up with hollering with joy and punctuating our remarks with cannon crackers. The crackers were too dangerous, they said, though we know now they were only a fraction as lethal as the automobiles in which we scour the countryside trying to signalize the occasion with motion.

Perhaps Americans are minded to put behind them all childish things for good and take a completely adult attitude toward themselves and their independence, regarding both as something a little less than perfect. If that has happened, our independence is in even more danger than alarmists have been saying it is. When anything as perishable as human freedom is taken for granted and no longer is marveled over noisily by those who possess it, damage is far advanced.

Threat of Trouble

In his plea to President Truman to veto the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Bill, AFL President William Green wrote: "If the Hobbs Bill becomes law widespread discontent and unrest will prevail within the ranks of labor. It will serve to increase labor strife . . ."

This sounds decidedly like a threat. It is certainly possible for labor's leadership to whip up discontent and unrest, and to foment increasing labor strife. But we seriously doubt that the rank and file of labor, if left alone, would rise up in revolt against a law which only prohibits them from committing robbery and extortion.

To suggest this seems to us an insult upon the membership. It also seems to be another indication that, to some labor leaders, any legislation tending to limit and correct some of labor's present disproportionate powers will be a signal for cries of "union-busting" and "anti-labor," and more threats of strife and unrest.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, July 10

WHILE there may be an undercurrent of serious difficulties, misunderstanding and stresses, undermining the fondest hopes and wishes, with subtlety and intrigues to be met with direct and straight-forward action, yet there is nothing that may not be corrected, deftly manipulated and vanquished by open discussion, honorable agreements, well-organized plans and purposes, in which the higher feelings and emotions are permitted to have free expression.

Shun erratic, peculiar or sinister impulses, in favor of fine ideals and generous inclinations.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which there may be a challenge to the higher feelings, impulses and emotions, in which finer ideals, inspirations or intuitions have weight over base, ignoble, subtle and sinister operations. An undercurrent of duplicity must be calmly analyzed, and freely discussed, followed by soundly organized plans for future balanced and worthy purpose, established on an open and above board basis. Understanding and happiness may be restored by getting down to fundamentals.

A child born on this day may have a duality of disposition and emotions, with the aspirational, lofty and worthy warring against erratic, peculiar, or subtle urges.

Penicillin Vapor Aids Bronchial Disorders

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SOMETIMES, science gets a good idea and then has to wait a hundred years for it to pay off.

That's the way it has been in the treatment of bronchial and lung infections, with vapor. What could be more natural when disease exists in the organs of breathing than to think of curing it by having the patient breathe in a vapor containing some healing substance?

It's a splendid idea, this one of bringing a healer in such direct contact with diseased parts with so little trouble. It's a natural and medical men of more than a century ago thought it up.

Ever since, other medical men have been playing around with the same thought without getting much further forward.

Heavy Droplets

The droplets of medicine were so heavy that they fell almost at once on the lining membranes of structures in the upper part of the breathing apparatus, windpipe and voice-box.

Recently, however, methods have been found of giving a vapor so fine that it can reach the deepest portions of the lungs and so half of the problem was solved, but physicians still lacked a really powerful drug which could be used in this way.

Then along came penicillin and at long last the doctors had what looked like a winning combination. Preliminary reports indicate that it is going to prove as good in practice as it looked in theory.

According to Dr. Allan Hurst of Denver, there is still no definite agreement as to what the best dose of penicillin is for such treatment. In some instances as little as 1,000 units a day have been given with success while as much as 50,000 units every three or four hours has also been used with similarly good results.

Treating Lung Disorders

He tried out this method of treatment in a group of patients with a number of different lung disorders. The penicillin was administered by passing oxygen through a solution containing 50,000 units of penicillin in one cubic centimeter of salt solution.

Among the cases treated were patients with a disorder known as bronchiectasis. This is a condition in which the bronchi or small tubes in the lungs are enlarged or dilated. Such patients also have an excessive amount of sputum, cough up a great deal and have some difficulty in breathing.

Patients treated with the penicillin in the form of a vapor, breathed directly into the lungs, were benefited to a great extent. In most instances, the amount of sputum was reduced, fever when present was overcome and coughing and tightness in the chest also were benefited.

Patients with asthma, a condition in which there are wheezing, tightness in the chest and coughing were also helped in many instances by this treatment. It was noted that in some instances some slight aggravation of the symptoms occurred when the treatment was first started but this cleared up quickly.

It would appear that this type of treatment is worth trying in many cases.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

will protect it and deliver it to your table intact

Take a tip from the chefs of our great restaurants and hotels, from the dietitians who make up the meals for our hospitals—if you want the most nutritious meals, packed full of vitamins, stick to Gas Cooking.

With Gas cooking controls, as you find them on your modern Gas Range, it is possible to secure that accurate, closely modulated, low temperature cooking that preserves the inborn goodness of food, its tastiness and flavor, while preventing scorching and wasteful shrinkage.

There's sound logic in the reasons why more American housewives cook with Gas than with any other fuel. Gas is dependable, the most accurately controllable, the most economical and best on all counts.

Bishop Oxnam Tells Vets Gospel Not to Be Political

COLUMBUS, O., July 9.—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York told Methodist war veterans here last night that Methodists "refuse to identify our gospel with an economic system, whether Communist, Socialist or Capitalist."

PLAN FOUR EVENTS FOR GOSHEN GRANGE

Goshen grange at its meeting Friday evening planned four social events.

The first will be the joint meeting of the Mahoning county young people of the eight county granges, with Goshen grange's good time party, which will be held at the Goshen grange hall, Wednesday evening, July 10.

Friday evening, July 12, at Goshen grange hall a festival will be held for the Goshen community.

At the meeting of Goshen grange, Friday evening, July 19, a miscellaneous shower will be accorded Mr. and Mrs. Burt Schaeffer, who were recently married. The home economics committee will have charge of a program.

Sunday, Aug. 11, the annual picnic of Goshen grange will be held at Guilford lake, the subordinate and juvenile granges uniting.

During the lecture hour, in charge of the lecturer, Miss Eleanor Bates, an "Independence day" program was given, opening with a poem "Independence," read by Miss Bates. Miss Lona Riffle contributed two vocal solos, "The Only One," and "Dorothy," accompanied by Miss Beatrice Hively.

Miss Frances Baird gave a piano solo, "The Blue Bird." Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Schmidt and Miss Eleanor Bates sang "Tell Me Why," and "Shine On Harvest Moon."

Sees Tax Cut If G. O. P. Wins November Election

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) predicted today that taxes will be cut if the Republicans win control of the house next November.

Saying that the administration is "clearly resisting efforts to trim expenses," Bender added in a statement that "a Republican victory in the elections would be a signal for the house ways and means committee that the nation wants a determined effort to achieve economy."

economic system, whether Communist, Socialist or Capitalist.

Criticizing what he termed a summons by "religious leaders" for a "holy war" on communism, Oxnam said:

"There are some who see in the 'holy war' an attempt to win so-called big business to Roman Catholic support, since the attack on communism is interpreted by some as an espousal of capitalism. It should be abundantly clear, however, that Rome is not standing for capitalism. It is, in fact, supporting political movements in Europe that mean its overthrow."

"It is hard to understand the insistence that Rome proceeds from moral principles in these matters," he said. "Its prestige, property and power appear to be the decisive considerations."

Addresses Veterans
Bishop Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, spoke on the fourth and final day of the conference of returned veterans with Methodist bishops.

He questioned the motives of religious leaders who, he said, "summon us to a 'holy war' on Communism."

"Had the religious leaders now summoning us to war on Communism attacked Fascism with equal vigor, the present 'holy war' could be understood as a continuance of the struggle against totalitarianism in all its forms," he declared.

"But why the cooperation in terms of concordant and in some cases frank approval? It is very difficult to understand cooperation with Fascist Italy, Nazi Germany and Fascist Spain and 'holy war' against Communist Russia."

"What is the basis of this attack? Is it the announced atheism of Communism that is condemned and the practiced atheism of Fascism that is condoned? It would appear that Christians must be consistent and condemn all forms of totalitarianism."

Bishop Oxnam said he "trusted" that Protestantism was "pursuing a wiser course."

Wayne Hahn Sparks Center In Torrid Win Over IAC As Protest Is Filed By Losers

Slashing out with hits when hits counted, the Bowling Center defeated the Italian-American club in a red-hot 4-3 battle at Centennial park Monday night.

The game, speckled with player outbursts against the umpires, moved the Center into a virtual tie for second place in the hot National league chase and was finished under a verbal protest to Umpire Steve Zatkoff by the losing IAC outfit.

In the other National league fray the Firestone club failed to appear and Washingtonville, now well in the top-rung sprint, won out on a 7-0 forfeit.

The forfeit win puts the Bingville Hunter Machine into fourth position, just a game and a half behind the China and Center.

The Italian A. C. Center game was a corker all the way.

The Center started belatedly on Pitcher Wayne Hahn's double in the fourth frame. Hahn scored from second when Jim Garrett laid out a pretty single.

Another Bowling Center run crossed the platter in the fifth inning when John Hart clubbed his initial homer of the season to make it 2-0 in what seemed an air-tight pitcher's duel.

The Italian-American team, not to be outdone, came through with a valuable two runs in the sixth inning to tie it up as Ed Zoccolo singled and Salvatore "Tut" Guappone doubled him to third.

A wild pitch by Wayne Hahn scored Zoccolo and Guappone followed the second and quick take that put the Center ahead.

In the torrid sixth Pitcher Wayne Hahn made his evening at the plate perfect by pasting out a beautiful circuit clout to again put the Center in the front 4-2. Wayne "Kirby" Laughlin, one of the loop's finest shortstops, scored ahead of him after singling to lead off.

The IAC was still not to be outdone.

In the bottom half of the sixth, Manager Nick Zamarelli of the IAC, pinch-hitting for Ray Detell, slapped out a single with one down.

Here the Center placed Second Baseman Lee Hahn near the batter along the first base line and quickly retired Bill DeReinzo on a foul.

The IAC bitterly protested the decision of the umpire, allowing the second out, but the same process was carried on as Taucher and Zoccolo were walked to load the bases. Donofrio had been called out at second as Nick Zamarelli scored, making it 4-3.

With the tying run on third and protests to the umpire filling most of the action, "Tut" Guappone popped out to Kirby Laughlin ending the ball game amidst a flurry of confusion.

The IAC contended that Lee Hahn, playing in on the first base line had stepped out of the playing field in the initial play which retired DeReinzo.

Whether or not the game will be formally protested to League Commissioner Joe Reese is yet to be seen.

The victory moved the Center up, tied the IAC with the Recreation and the forfeit advanced Washingtonville to fourth and moved the Firestone outfit into a virtual tie with the Salem Lunch for last position.

MANAGERS WILL FINISH CLASSIC PLANS BY VOTE

Joe Kelley Calls Session To Set Plans For July 24th Game

Final arrangements for and the choice of players to participate in the first All-Star softball game ever to be held in Salem will be made at a meeting of Class A league managers at the Memorial building at 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Joe Kelley, league manager, announced today.

Kelley has called all managers to the session and requests that each manager, after conferring with his players if he so desires, bring along his proposed selection of an All-Star team from the players in his respective league.

Eighteen players and four pitchers from the American and a similar number from the National will make up the two squads for the benefit game.

Will Settle Money's Use

Kelley said the managers would decide Thursday what the money from the game shall be used for.

Most popular suggestion so far, he said, was that of establishing a medical fund to care for players injured in league play.

The selections of the men for the two teams will be based on the vote of the managers and on statistical records of performances in the leagues so far this season.

Records will be available at the Thursday meeting.

In case of a tie in votes for a position, Kelley said, the decision will be made on the basis of a man's batting average and fielding mark.

In past seasons, because there have never been more than one Class A league, such a game was an impossibility. Several times, however, a somewhat hastily chosen Class A All-Star team has met an out-of-town competitor.

A manager is asked to follow this procedure with respect to his own league selections:

1) Name two men for each of the nine fielding positions, numbering the position choices one and two, according to preference.

2) Select four pitchers, numbering them as to preference.

3) Select a manager for the team.

4) Base all selections on a player's performance this season only.

5) Bring this list to the meeting in written form.

6) Form an opinion, after conferring with team players, as to what use should be made of the money raised from the benefit game.

7) Be ready to voice a choice of umpires for the game.

Leetonia Crescents, Grill Maintain 2nd, 3rd Places In American League Race

Second and third place teams in the American league held their places Monday night as both Leetonia and Ohio Grill romped to victories over second division opponents at Centennial park.

The Crescents clung to the runner-up spot behind Mullins by whipping the Sip N Bite by a 9-3 count, while the Grill hung a 4-0 shut out on the eighth-place Electric Furnace.

Leetonia overcame a three run deficit to win its tilt, by piling on all nine runs in the last three innings.

Pitcher John Clunen limited the losers to three singles as he struck out four and walked one.

Batting star for the winners was Pat Mancuso who rapped out two singles and a home run in three trips to the plate. This performance brought his average up to a mighty .522, just two points back of league leading Bob Miller, who will see action tonight.

Bob Chappell twirled for Sip N Bite and was touched for nine safeties. He issued five walks and whiffed a pair.

Art Chappell stroked a home run with two on for the losers in the third inning to provide his team with all its runs.

Jack King came through with another fine twirling exhibition, as he followed his no-hitter against the Eagles last week with a two-hit job against the Furnace.

King allowed two walks and struck out four two bring his whiff total to a league leading 92.

The Grill victory kept the team close on the heels of Leetonia and within striking distance of Mullins.

None of the Grillers collected more than one hit. Frank "Pinky" King went none for three and dropped from 444 to 400. Third place in the league, batting race was taken over by Guy Beltempo, of Leetonia, with 429 as a result, dropping Pinky King from the Big Three.

The Grill scored all of its runs in the second and third innings and was never in danger as Jack King failed to waver.

Lump On Topper Is Brown's Only Reward For Fight

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, July 9—A lump on the head—a big one—was all that Old Mose Brown of Pittsburgh had to show today for 10 rounds of fist-cutting last night with Tommy Yarosz of Monaca, Pa.

The lump came from a head-bumping episode in the second frame, providing the top action of the event. After it was all over, the old Mose's end of the purse for what it called an "unsatisfactory performance."

The commission scheduled a hearing for today to determine whether Brown, winner of his previous seven scraps by knockouts, should be paid. Indications were that he might get his money, as Referee Jackie Davis reported he "thought Mose was doing his best."

If these things continue to happen to him, Mose will think Cleveland is his jinx town. The batter, now studying for the ministry while earning his living with his mitts, was suspended for a year by the local commission some time back for failure to appear here for a fight. And now he has that lump—as big as a polo ball—on his forehead, and no dough.

The engagement, top event of five 10-rounders, was slow and uninteresting all the way. Brown failed to land an effective punch, while Yarosz, brother of former Middleweight Champion Ted Yarosz, spent most of the evening flicking his left in Brown's face.

Brown weighed 172, Yarosz 166.

Light Heavies In Best Shape After Veterans Return

Who's To Fight Gus Lesnevich Is Big Question This Summer

BY ED KELLY

International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH—They're playing "Lesnevich, Lesnevich, Who's Gonna Fight Lesnevich?" in the light heavyweight boxing bracket—a bracket, incidentally, that has gained most with the return of fighters from the wars.

At the moment there are three formidable contenders clamoring for a shot at the title now held by Gus Lesnevich, the Jersey wallower who recently stopped Freddy Mills in England.

The situation has been developing rapidly on the lightweight front and since the last Ring Magazine ratings, issued two months ago, rated contenders have been beaten and a new unrated threat has popped over the horizon.

Archie Moore, a protege of the late James J. Johnston and both Ring's and the NBA's first choice for a shot at the title, was unofficially and unceremoniously dropped from his noble pew. The culprit in Moore's case was Ezzard Charles, a Cincinnati clubber, who hitherto had been ranked No. 8 in the lineup.

Mills was the No. 2 man and observers claim he might possibly have scored a decision, had he not elected to slug it out with his American adversary, as they say in Piccadilly Circus.

The rated No. 3 man, one Billy Smith from the West Coast, lost a lot of ground recently when he was beaten by Charley Burley, a louty but fine middleweight from Pittsburgh.

Next comes Blackie Billy Fox, the Philadelphia "sledge hammer" man who has the incredible and sensational professional career of 39 fights and 39 knockouts.

Blackie's advisers have announced they are seeking a bout with Lesnevich but at the same time it is reported they want no business with Charles.

The remainder of the rated contenders, incidentally, have neither impressive names nor records and just managed to stay up with the "big fellows" during the lean war years.

The newcomer on the scene is Tommy Yarosz, brother of former middleweight champion, Teddy Yarosz. Young Tommy, just out of service, has had a couple of tuneup fights and already has challenged both Moore and Charles. He also believes Fox is too easy to hit to be dangerous.

Creditable ring veterans who have seen young Yarosz in action, claim he is almost as clever

THE GUMPS

EVERYTHING I KID ABOUT THOSE PHONE THREATS AGAINST MY LIFE I'M REALLY WORRIED.

MR. WADY! THAT MAN WITH THE UMBRELLA! HE'S WATCHING ME FROM BEHIND A TREE!

YEP, ONE OF THEM FELLERS SHE'S TALKIN' ABOUT YOU...

LOOK, PARDY HERE'S THAT THOROUGHSHAWD GUN I JUST BOUGHT!

DON'T BE SO NERVOUS, MR. GUMP, SHE JUST WENT OUT TO DO A LITTLE SHOPPING.

BUT IT'S PAST DINNER TIME, IF SHE'S NOT HOME WITHIN THE NEXT TEN MINUTES—I'LL—

RRING! RRRING!

WHAT? WHO IS THIS? WAIT! ELAST THAT! THREATENING COWARD—HE HUNG UP!

Ohio Liquor Board Operating Again

COLUMBUS, July 9.—The State Liquor Control board operated again today with a full complement of four members after quick action by Gov. Lausche and the Ohio senate.

The appointments of Harry A. Mettler of Nelsonville and Richard A. Lindemann were sent to the senate by Lausche late yesterday and that branch of the legislature confirmed them unanimously last night.

The names reached the senate as it was winding up a special session convened two weeks ago. Adjournment was held up until nine senators appeared to make a quorum.

Mettler, a former Athens county prosecutor, had been on the board since last October, but the governor had indicated he was dissatisfied with the members work and would not ask the senate for approval.

Lausche announced he had discussed with Mettler "the need of imposing vigorous punishment upon defiant and repeated transgressors of the liquor law."

It Pays To Advertise, So Painter Gets the Job

CLEVELAND, July 9.—Albert J. Dettorre is painting for glory, not for profit.

Dettorre submitted a bid of $990 to clean and paint the Cleveland transit system's four shelters on public square—a figure less than half the second lowest bid.

"Are you going to make any money on this bid?" asked Transit Board Chairman William C. Reed.

"Probably not," said Dettorre. "Will you lose?" asked Reed.

"A few hundred," replied the contractor, explaining he had made a mistake in figuring the job.

But when Reed reminded him he could withdraw his bid if it resulted from an honest mistake, Dettorre demurred.

"I want the job even if I am going to lose some money," he said. "The truth is, I want my name down on public square. I've been seeing other names on the square for years. I'd kind of like to see my own."

MEAT CEILING

The Wherry amendment might open the way to a flood of decontrol proposals.

Both sides have been muttering about "propaganda" and "pressure."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters he intends to bring this question out in the open with a formal speech he hoped to have ready today.

Taft hopped on to an assertion by Barkley yesterday that, based on 1939 wholesale averages, the price of a dozen important foodstuffs had gone up 17 percent between June 28 and July 5.

With August, 1939, prices as a basis of 100, Barkley said the index was 229.6 percent on June 28 and 268.8 on July 5.

Surviving are his wife, Maudie; three sons, Thomas L. James Robert and Paul Edward; his father, entire life here and was a graduate of Leetonia high school.

Surviving are his parents; a sister, Alvera, at home; three brothers, Carmen, Samuel and Alfred, all of the home.

Funeral service will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday at St. Patrick's Catholic church, in charge of Rev. W. W. Maund. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. Wednesday at the Woods funeral home.

LESTER W. BERGER

Lester W. Berger, 46, died at 12 a. m. Monday at his home, 480 Newgarden st., following eight months illness.

Born Feb. 14, 1900, at Johnsonburg, Pa., he was a bookkeeper by trade. He was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and the Eagles lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Maudie; three sons, Thomas L. James Robert and Paul Edward; his father, William Berger of Johnsonburg, Pa., and two brothers, Ray of Peoria, Ill., and Vern of Chicago.

Funeral service will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the Stark Memorial, in charge of Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home.

Whinery Gives Talk At Butler Grange Meeting

A short talk by Marius Whinery of Salem, a 50-year member, was a feature of a meeting of Butler grange Friday evening at the grange hall.

A new social committee was appointed, including Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woolf and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Altenhof. Announcement was made of a shower to be held Wednesday for Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mercer, who were recently married. The following program was presented: Reading, "Independence," Mrs. Joseph Ward; reading, "Teaching Her To Drive," Mrs. Frank Ward; jokes, Mrs. Robert Slutz; reading, "The Horse," Mrs.

Lowell Whinery; reading, "City Cousins," Mrs. C. L. Brown. The attendance prize was awarded to Ernest Woolf.

The next meeting will be held July 19, when members of Wayne township grange will be guests.

Ohio Liquor Board Operating Again

COLUMBUS, July 9.—The State Liquor Control board operated again today with a full complement of four members after quick action by Gov. Lausche and the Ohio senate.

The appointments of Harry A. Mettler of Nelsonville and Richard A. Lindemann were sent to the senate by Lausche late yesterday and that branch of the legislature confirmed them unanimously last night.

The names reached the senate as it was winding up a special session convened two weeks ago. Adjournment was held up until nine senators appeared to make a quorum.

Mettler, a former Athens county prosecutor, had been on the board since last October, but the governor had indicated he was dissatisfied with the member's work and would not ask the senate for approval.

Lausche announced he had discussed with Mettler "the need of imposing vigorous punishment upon defiant and repeated transgressors of the liquor law."

It Pays To Advertise, So Painter Gets the Job

CLEVELAND, July 9.—Albert J. Detorre is painting for glory, not for profit.

Detorre submitted a bid of $990 to clean and paint the Cleveland transit system's four shelters on public square—a figure less than half the second lowest bid.

"Are you going to make any money on this bid?" asked Transit Board Chairman William C. Reed.

"Probably not," said Detorre. "Will you lose?" asked Reed.

"A few hundred," replied the contractor, explaining he had made a mistake in figuring the job.

But when Reed reminded him he could withdraw his bid if it resulted from an honest mistake, Detorre demurred.

"I want the job even if I am going to lose some money," he said. "The truth is, I want my name down on public square. I've been seeing other names on the square for years. I'd kind of like to see my own."

the Wherry amendment might open the way to a flood of decontrol proposals.

Both sides have been muttering about "propaganda" and "pressure."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters he intends to bring this question out in the open with a formal speech he hoped to have ready today.

Taft hopped on to an assertion by Barkley yesterday that, based on 1939 wholesale averages, the price of a dozen important foodstuffs had gone up 17 percent between June 28 and July 5.

With August, 1939, prices as a basis of 100, Barkley said the index was 229.6 percent on June 28 and 268.8 on July 5.
